

Ruhr-Universität Bochum (RUB) is one of the leading research universities in Germany. As a reform-oriented campus university, it houses the full breadth and width of expertise in the main branches of science and research under one roof. Working in an environment that promotes a dynamic exchange between individual academic disciplines and their cultures, researchers and students alike benefit from the opportunities of interdisciplinary collaboration.

W3 PROFESSORSHIP FOR SOCIAL POLICY AND PUBLIC ECONOMICS

The Faculty of Social Science at Ruhr-Universität Bochum seeks to fill a W3 Professorship for Social Policy and Public Economics (anticipated start date: Summer semester 2020).

The future full professor should have an excellent record of publications and experience in directing research projects on the economics of social policy. She or he should have worked on several branches and instruments of social policy, including questions of institutional design. Additional research interests may encompass relevant aspects of political and collective decision-making (public choice), social-policy administration (public management), public and non-profit enterprises, or other fields of institutional economics. The professorship contributes to the interdisciplinary degree programmes offered by the Faculty of Social Science, with obligations ranging from teaching principles of economics at the Bachelors' level to co-ordinating the Masters' programme „Health Systems and Health Industry“.

The appointment requirements in accordance with § 36 ff. of the Higher Education Act of North Rhine-Westphalia (Hochschulgesetz NW; <https://uni.ruhr-uni-bochum.de/en/appointments>) must be met.

Other mandatory requirements include:

- International visibility and network;
- Qualification for and deep commitment to academic teaching;
- Willingness to engage with interdisciplinary research and collaboration;
- Experience with securing projects with third-party funding;
- Readiness to participate in academic administration.

Ruhr-Universität Bochum is an equal opportunity employer.

Applications and all relevant documents (cover letter, academic CV, list of publications, certificates, list of acquired third-party funding, list of lectures and seminars) are to be submitted by 09/15/2019 to the Dean at the Faculty of Social Science at Ruhr-Universität Bochum, 44780 Bochum, Germany, dekanat-sowi@rub.de.
